Itemized Account of Doings in City and Country.

LOCAL NOTES.

The overland train was over an hour late again this morning.

The ladies of the Flower Mission favored this office with a handsome bouquet this morning.

The unfortunate steamer Bentley is again on the river under the captaincy of Capt. Short, her former mate.

Rev. J. W. Harris will preach in the Congregational church, to-morrow morning, and in the evening, a good song service will be given. All are invited.

A Midnight Rainbow.

Rev. Fredk. K. Post, chaplain of the 2nd regiment, O. N. G., and pastor of St. Paul's church in this city, witnessed a sight Thursday night that seldom comes under the observation of man. He was standing out doors between the hours of twelve and one o'clock, when gazing toward the west, a bright bow of clear white spread clear across the zenith from horizon to horizon. The moon was brightly shining, and of course the bow was a rainbow. This sight is often read of, but not often seen. The moon's rays are not strong enough to give to the bow the prismatic colors seen in the bow of day time, but it was a grand sight, nevertheless.

Selling Whisky to Indians.

Dave Shepard was taken to Portland to-day to be sentenced by Judge Deady for having furnished a festive "Injin" who sails under the euphonious sobriquet of Tom, with a quantity of the concentrated extract of Kentucky. Tom was one of the Indians that was up for perjury recently. Dave had been drinking heavily, and suffered yesterday from delirium tremens. Deputy Marshal Barnbrick caught Shepard in the act this time, so it is a clear case.

Newspaper Incorporated.

The Eastern Oregon Publishing Company of Union, has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state, with $5,000 capital stock. The object of the concern is to publish a republican newspaper to be known as the Eastern Oregon Republican. W. T. Wright, F. F. Baker, E. T. Springer and S. O. Swackhaver, are the incorporators.

A Bear Scrimmage.

One day last week Mr. A. O. Baxter got on to the trail of a black bear above Silverton, and soon his dogs treed the varmint, in which effort one of the hounds got his tail in chancery, and the same nearly amputated by the truculent brute. A well directed shot from Baxter's rifle finally dispatched the ugly brute in good shape.

Election in A Company.

Yesterday Lieut. Geo. H. Burnett, signal officer, 2nd. regt., at Whiteaker, to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations of Capt. Wrightman and Lieut. Downing. The election resulted in the choice of Second Lieut. Grant Lake to be captain, G. A. Scott first lieutenant and Sylvester Lambert, second lieutenant.

The Depot Building.

Work on the new depot building has been delayed somewhat by the continued rains, but is progressing favorably. The roof is about completed, and much of the weatherboarding is on. This building is going to make quite a respectable appearance when completed.

Time Card to be Changed.

It is said that the O. & C. time card will be changed about August 1st so that trains will leave San Francisco at 8 o'clock instead of 6:30 p. m. as at present. This will be as soon as the new eating houses at Ashland and Redding are completed.

Increased its Capital Stock.

Yesterday evening the stockholders of the Salem Building and Loan Association decided to increase the capital stock of the company from $1000 to $2000. Ed. N. Edes was elected a director in place of T. J. Potter, resigned.

B Co. Inspected.

B Co., 2nd. regiment and the regimental band were mustered and inspected yesterday evening by Lieut. W. N. Ladue, r. q. m., at the armory. Several spectators were present.

FAMILY REUNION.

A Pioneer Couple Receive the Greetings of Their Children and Grandchildren.

On Wednesday last, the 27th inst., there was an interesting reunion of the family of J. M. Jones, one of the prominent citizens of this town, and a pioneer of Oregon. He came to this state from Illinois in 1853, and settled in Lane county, near Eugene City, where he resided till 1861, when he removed to Marion county, near where the town of Stayton is now. Mr. Jones was a farmer, but in 1878 he removed to the new town of Stayton, where he engaged in the mercantile business of this town, but he retired from business some years ago. His children have all been married for many years. Yesterday for the second time in more than a score of years they all assembled around the old hearthstone. T. L. Jones came from Drain, Douglas county; Mrs. E. A. Harbin from Heppner, Morrow county; J. N. Jones, is a resident of Stayton, Mrs. J. L. Follonsby and Mrs. E. A. Jones are from Palouse City, W. T., and Mrs. W. E. Thomas lives in Stayton. These are all the children that are living and there were also fifteen grandchildren present. These with the father and mother constituted a happy and numerous family together at the table of the old home. Of course they partook of a bountiful repast. There were ten grandchildren and great grandchildren absent. It was enjoyed by all present as a family jubilee. After the toils and privations of a pioneer life this aged and respected couple are closing up their earthly career, surrounded with a host of friends and blessed with a fair share of the comforts of this world. Like a ripe stock of corn they are ready to be gathered home. J. N. J. STAYTON, June 18th.

At the Agricultural Works Ruins.

A reporter of the JOURNAL passed the ruins of the old Agricultural works this morning, and was pleased to observe the improvements going on there. Of course the building is not to be re-constructed at all, at least in none of the immense proportions in which it existed before the fire, but Mr. Holman is re-building, in a measure, the first story and basement of the west end of the ruins, and getting ready to replace his electric light plant there as soon as received. Mr. Holman has received word that the dynamo will be repaired and re-shipped to him next week. He will get his lights running again by July 15th.

Churchill & Cooke, the sash and door factory men, have refitted a temporary structure south of the ruins, and are now engaged in placing their new machinery. They expect to get started on Monday morning.

Drowned in Luckiamute.

On Thursday, Lee Robertson and John H. Hollinshead were drowned in the pond at Rowell's mill, on the Luckiamute. These two men, with the other mill hands, had just finished rolling logs into the pond, and all started for the mill except Robertson, who remained to straighten up the logs. Soon after the hands heard Robertson crying for help. Rushing back they found him holding to a log, his head under water. Hollinshead plunged into the water and started to swim to Robertson's assistance, but was taken with cramps, and both were drowned before assistance could reach them. Both were well respected and young. Hollinshead leaves a young wife.

BACK TO HIS FIRST LOVE.

Adventure Has its Charms--But Old Age Likes Comfort.

We mentioned yesterday the return to this city of D. D. Prettyman, one of our old pioneers, who left the state about eighteen months ago to try the virtues of our neighbor territory, Idaho, as a place of abode. Mr. Prettyman has two sons, stirring and energetic young men, who conceived the notion that Oregon was too slow, and desired to shove out and take a part in the activities they had heard so much talk of. The first move of this family, D. D. Prettyman and wife and the two sons, was to Viola, in the Cœur d'Alene, about 75 miles south of Spokane Falls and seven miles distant from Moscow. This latter town was formerly county seat of Nez Perce county, but a new county (Lataw) has lately been formed, in which Moscow is now comprehended. This is a bleak mountainous country, situated in a metal bearing region and poorly adapted for farming. The sudden and violent changes of atmosphere affected his lungs and he suffered terribly with asthma. This is a growing country; mineral development creates some activity, and there is a continued settlement along the line of the Northern Pacific. But the spaces are almost boundless in that region, and farming lands few and far between. Our aged friend grew homesick, adventure had slight charms for him. The result was he struck out for Salem, where his former home awaited him. Mrs. Prettyman will rejoice him shortly. The young men have left for Big Bend, where they propose to follow stock raising and farming.

"The End on It."

To-day closes up the present official career of numerous officials throughout the state, and this county sees its changes along with the rest of them. The carpenters are at work at the court house fitting up the room just back of the clerk's vault, to be used by the new county recorder. They have put up several new cases, and pigeon holes in the clerk's office, and will fix up the recorder's office in the same way.

After Monday the county business of Marion county will be performed by the following gentlemen:

- County Judge T. C. Shaw.
- Commissioners, A. H. Cornelius and W. T. Grim.
- Clerk of the courts, F. J. Babcock.
- Recorder of Conveyances, J. Benson Starr.
- Treasurer, A. O. Condit.
- Sheriff, Ed. M. Croisan.
- Supt. of schools, D. W. Yoder.
- Surveyor, W. J. Culver.
- Coroner, Dr. D. C. Byland.
- The new Assessor, A. F. Blackerby, will not begin work for some time yet, not until the present assessment is completed.

The Corvallis Celebration.

A good deal of interest is being taken in the coming celebration of the fourth of July at Corvallis by Salem people, as a large number of our citizens are contemplating attending. Therefore the publication of the program will be of interest. The exercises of the day of course begin with a sunrise salute. The 2nd regiment, O. N. G. will be formed under command of Col. Thos. C. Smith, at an early hour, and will be reviewed by Brig. Gen. J. M. Siglin and staff. This will be followed by the street parade, after which will follow the reading of the declaration of independence, and the oration.

Then we'll all eat. At 1:30 p. m., the corner stone of Benton county's new court house will be laid; at 2:30 races and other sports. At half past three, the sham battle will take place. A ball in the evening will follow.

Parties should leave here on the evening train Tuesday, and return on the morning train Thursday. Civilian visitors can remain over night at Albany Tuesday night, and be accommodated better than at Corvallis, perhaps, and take the special train from Albany to Corvallis early Wednesday morning and return that evening to Albany. The militia will be quartered at Corvallis during the night, and will probably fill that town up pretty much. W. S. McFadden will deliver the Fourth of July address and Col. Jno. Kelsey, the address at the laying of the corner stone.

Mrs. Smith's Ill Luck.

Women of the metropolis are in some instances very curious creatures indeed. The horse cars occasionally furnish striking illustrations of this fact. A middle-aged girl and a girl of girlish age were seated in a crowded horse car last night, chatting in so loud a tone that at least one-half of the passengers could hear them.

"Wasn't that really too bad about poor Mrs. Smith?" said one of them.

"Why, I haven't heard of it. Please tell me," said the other.

"Oh, haven't you heard of it? Why, dear me, I supposed everybody knew of it. You know the great trouble she had in getting a divorce from her husband," said the one.

"Oh, yes, but she got it, didn't she?" asked the other.

"Yes, but she had to pay $400 for it."

"But she ought to be satisfied with that, hadn't she?"

"Well, hardly; her husband, just to show how mean he could be if he wanted to, died the week after she paid the $400, and she had all her expense and trouble for nothing."—New Haven Register.
